

What next, after JSRS Certification?

What other certificates can I apply for after receiving the JSRS Certificate?

After receiving the JSRS Certificate, Suppliers can apply for Additional Certificates on JSRS. Additional Certificates are Buyer-Specific accreditation that suppliers can apply for to gain business opportunities in specific concession areas across Oman. The Additional Certificate are categorized into two sections – LCC Special Status Certificates and Zonal Certificates.

What is the LCC Special Status in JSRS Certificate?

The ‘Local Community Contractor’ (LCC) Special Status is for companies operating within the concession areas of certain Operators. LCCs who meet specific criteria, as defined by these Operators, are identified on the JSRS Certificate as ‘Special Status’ LCC. Companies with the LCC Special Status benefit from priority procurement opportunities from respective Operators. Omani Suppliers who qualify to be Local Community Contractors (LCCs) can apply for the LCC Special Status in their JSRS Certificate. LCC Special Status approval on the Certificate is currently endorsed by Petroleum Development of Oman \(PDO\), CC Energy Development S.A.L. \(Oman Branch\) and Occidental Oman Incorporated \(OXY\).

What is PDO LCC JSRS Certificate?

What is Occidental of Oman LCC JSRS Certificate?

Occidental Oman Incorporated (OXY) has launched their Local Community Contractors (LCC) Certification as a ‘Special Status’ within JSRS Certification. The companies, whose owners are from seven specific Wilayats

(Haima, Al Duqm, Al Jazir, Mahout, Ibri, Adam and Bahla), are eligible for the Occidental Oman Incorporated LCC status in JSRS. JSRS Suppliers can apply for OXY LCC 'Special Status' on JSRS.

What is the primary advantage of having Additional Certification on JSRS? Does acquiring the JSRS Certificate alone mean that opportunities with Oil & Gas Operators will be limited?

Apart from the JSRS Certificate, some Buyers require their Suppliers to hold an Additional Certification (issued on fulfilment of that Buyer's parameters) to be eligible for their procurement opportunities.

In most cases, the JSRS is more than enough to receive business opportunities. And in any case, it is a pre-requisite to receive any business opportunity from Oman's O&G Sector.
